BROOKGREEN GARDENS'
 LOWCOUNTRY ZOO

The Lowcountry Zoo has been an important element of the mission for Brookgreen Gardens since its inception. It is the only zoo accredited by the Association of Zoos and Aquariums (AZA) on the coast of North and South Carolina. The AZA is America's most respected organization for zoos and aquariums and accredits only those institutions that have achieved rigorous standards for animal care, education, wildlife conservation and science. All of the native animals in the Lowcountry Zoo were either bred and raised in captivity at an AZA accredited institution or were obtained from a wildlife rehabilitation center after sustaining a major disability due to injury. In either case, these animals could not survive in the wild.

The Lowcountry Zoo contains three distinctive elements. The Native Animals that live in the woods, swamps and waters. The Domestic Animals provide an element of education not only for the Lowcountry Zoo but it connects the zoo to The Lowcountry Trail and Brookgreen's history. The animals in this exhibit are now considered "rare breeds" and are much more like animals of the 1800s than the highly specialized hybrid descendants of today. The Cypress Aviary is the only known aviary built over an existing cypress swamp. Visitors stroll on an elevated boardwalk through the aviary and observe waterfowl feeding and flying in this natural setting.

EDUCATIONAL AND DAILY PROGRAMS:

Ten thousand area school children participate in Brookgreen's educational programs each year. They learn about animal classification, adaptations, and habitats of the local wildlife as well as observe first hand some historic breeds of domestic animals that were an important part of life in rural South Carolina. Daily programs at the Plantation Barn and Zoo include Mother Nature's Café and Meet the Animals at the Lowcountry Center.

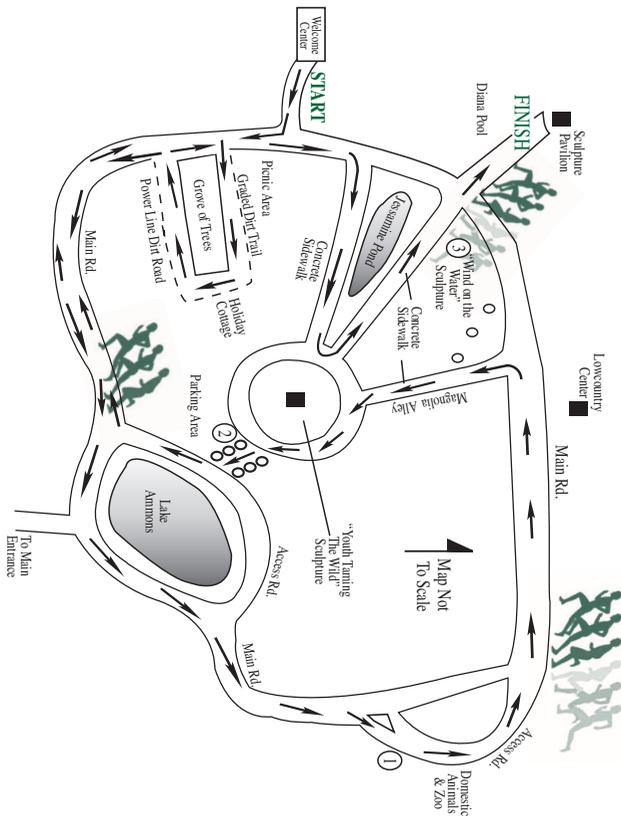

Brookgreen Gardens and its Lowcountry Zoo is a treasure. Be sure to make it a part of your visit. Thank you for participating in the race today and for your community support.
